3. Definitions

3.1 Definition of SEN

A student has SEN if they have a learning difficulty or disability which calls for special educational provision to be made for them.

They have a learning difficulty or disability if they have:

- A significantly greater difficulty in learning than most others of the same age, or
- A disability which prevents or hinders them from making use of facilities of a kind provided for others of the same age in mainstream schools

Special educational provision is educational or training provision that is additional to, or different from, that made for other children or young people of the same age by mainstream schools.

3.2 Definition of Disability

‘Many children and young people who have SEN may also have a disability under the Equality Act 2010 – that is’...a physical or mental impairment which has a long-term and substantial adverse effect on their ability to carry out normal day-to-day activities’.

This definition provides a low threshold and includes more children than many realize: ‘long-term’ is defined as ‘a year or more’ and ‘substantial’ is defined as ‘more than minor or trivial.’ (DfE/DoH 2015: 16)

4. Roles and responsibilities

4.1 The SENCO

The SENCO is Ms. Elysa Alton MAEd (SEN), BAEd Hons, Level 7 Specific Learning Difficulties (SpLD), Postgraduate Certificate in SEN Coordination - National Award for SEN Coordination (NASENCO), Member of the Professional Association of Teachers of Students with Specific Learning Difficulties (PATOSS), Member of the British Dyslexia Association and member of the British Psychological Society.

They will:

- Work with the Principal and SEN governor to determine the strategic development of the SEN policy and provision in the school
- Have day-to-day responsibility for the operation of this SEN policy and the co-ordination of specific provision made to support individual students with SEN, including those who have EHC plans
- Provide professional guidance to colleagues and work with staff, parents, and other agencies to ensure that students with SEN receive appropriate support and high-quality teaching
- Advise on the graduated approach to providing SEN support
- Advise on the deployment of the school’s delegated budget and other resources to meet students’ needs effectively
- Be the point of contact for external agencies, especially the local authority and its support services

5.2 Identifying students with SEN and assessing their needs

We will assess each student's current skills and levels of attainment on entry, specifically in years 10 and 12, which will build on previous settings and Key Stages, where appropriate. Class teachers will make regular assessments of progress for all students and identify those whose progress:

- is significantly slower than that of their peers starting from the same baseline
- fails to match or better the child's previous rate of progress
- fails to close the attainment gap between the child and their peers
- widens the attainment gap

This may include progress in areas other than attainment, for example, social needs.

Slow progress and low attainment will not automatically mean a student is recorded as having SEN.

When deciding whether special educational provision is required, we will start with the desired outcomes, including the expected progress and attainment, and the views and the wishes of the student and their parents. We will use this to determine the support that is needed and whether we can provide it by adapting our core offer, or whether something different or additional is needed.

5.3 Consulting and involving students and parents

We will have an early discussion with the student and their parents/careers/guardians when identifying whether they need special educational provision as defined by the Code of Practice as amended in 2015. These conversations will make sure that:

- everyone develops a good understanding of the student's areas of strength and difficulty
- we consider the parents' concerns
- everyone understands the agreed outcomes sought for the child
- everyone is clear on what the next steps are

Notes of these early discussions will be added to the student's record and given to their parents. We will formally notify parents when it is decided that a student will receive SEN support.

5.4 Assessing and reviewing students' progress towards outcomes

We will follow the graduated approach and the four-part cycle of assess, plan, do, review.

The class or subject teacher will work with the SENCO to carry out a clear analysis of the student's needs. This will draw on:

- the teacher's assessment and experience of the student
- their previous progress and attainment and behaviours
- other teachers' assessments, where relevant
- the individual's development in comparison to their peers and national data
- the views and experience of parents
- the student's own views
- advice from external support services, if relevant

The assessment will be reviewed regularly.

All teachers and support staff who work with the student will be made aware of their needs, the outcomes sought, the support provided, and any teaching strategies or approaches that are required. We will regularly review the effectiveness of the support and interventions and their impact on the student's progress.

5.5 Supporting students moving between phases and preparing for adulthood

We will share information with the school, college, or other setting the student is moving to. We will agree with parents and students which information will be shared as part of this.

5.6 Our approach to teaching students with SEN

Teachers are responsible and accountable for the progress and development of all the students in their class.

High quality teaching is our first step in responding to students who have SEN. This will be differentiated for individual students.

All staff are given continuous professional learning in the development of inclusive teaching practice.

5.7 Adaptations to the curriculum and learning environment

We make the following adaptations to ensure all students' needs are met:

- Differentiating our curriculum to ensure all students can access it, for example, by small class sizes, grouping, 1:1 work, teaching style, content of the lesson, etc.
- Adapting our resources and staffing
- Using recommended aids, such as laptops, coloured overlays, visual timetables, larger font, etc.
- Differentiating our teaching, for example, giving longer processing times, pre-teaching of key vocabulary, reading instructions aloud, etc.

5.8 Additional support for learning

Our teaching assistants are trained to deliver interventions such as literacy, speech and language sessions and differentiation for all subjects.

Teaching assistants will support students on a 1:1 basis when it benefits the student and it rapidly improves progress. Especially for students with severe learning difficulties.

Teaching assistants will support students in small groups to support differentiation in the most difficult topics

We work with the following agencies to provide support for students with SEN:
